Transportation Security Administration (TSA) fees will increase airline ticket prices in July.

The fee is used to offset TSA costs for providing civil aviation security services.

Passengers are currently charged $2.50 per nonstop flight and $5.00 for a flight that requires a connection. There are no extra costs for layovers and the fee is capped at $10.00 per ticket.

The new security fee is set to $5.60 each way, making a roundtrip fee $11.20. In addition to the increase, there is an extra charge for each leg of flight with a connection of more than four hours and no cap per ticket.

Also in the news is the Transparent Airfares Act of 2014, which proposes several issues and potential regulations that may affect carriers, travelers, and travel buyers.

Federal M&IE Changes

Effective 6/1/14, the federal M&IE was updated for a few Alaska locations, which affected the taxable M&IE calculation.

As a result, the Taxable Travel Allowance form has been updated and posted to the list of Travel Forms.

The following changes were made to the ALASKA TAXABLE M&IE tab.
- Gambell has increased, which changes the taxable impact to $1.
- Point Hope has been removed as the M&IE is now above $60 per day.

Statewide Travel Costs

A recent report from USTravel provided department level data that included an estimated savings for touchless bookings. The report shows that 55% of the bookings were done online with no agent assistance with an estimated statewide savings of $88,000 in booking fees in Q3 FY14.

Certain types of bookings are excluded in the online rate calculation, such as reservations with rural carriers and travel that includes an unused ticket exchange.

Historical data reflects the statewide average transaction fee in FY2009 was $18.82; this fiscal year the average fee is $12.06.

This is a direct result of the constructive suggestions of statewide E-Travel users and the continual improvements that have been made to the online booking tool.

If you would like to see your department’s online savings, please contact the ETMT.

The State of Alaska made a big change in May 2013 with the successful configuration and implementation of a new online booking tool. Since the roll out, there have been many great suggestions and feedback from E-Travel users.

As a result of the feedback, we have been able to add features and enhancements that have increased efficiencies, boosted user satisfaction, and lowered booking tool costs.

This past fall, the ability to process simple exchanges, refunds, and voids was enabled and most recently, a major change to the hotel booking process was released and template issues were resolved.

If you have suggestions or ideas that may bring efficiencies to the booking tool, we encourage you to complete the quarterly survey if you have not done so already.

Satisfaction survey is open until September 1, 2014.

Here are a few comments regarding the most recent enhancements:

- Hotel #1. I want to book two different hotels in one city. When I attempt to “add to trip” for the second hotel, the drop down selection box appeared to only give the option of the origination city.

  Booking Tool FAQs: Several questions have been removed from the Hotel and Template sections and the following FAQs have been updated.

  - Air #4. How do I find the one-way flight options?

  E-Travel Online User Guide: The Table of Contents has been reduced to a single page and the Hotel Search section (pages 22-24) has been updated.

  Quick Reference Guides: New hotel search steps and icons have been updated.

Please let us know if you notice other FAQs or sections of the E-Travel Online Guide that should be updated.
