

On-line Storage, File Transfer or File Synchronization Use Waiver

On-line Storage, File Transfer or File Synchronization services, such as YouSendIt, box.net and Dropbox, are not a State of Alaska standard. The State of Alaska has not entered into a contract with such on-line services due to the limitations of their terms of service. The State of Alaska cannot support users experiencing service difficulties associated with these.

- The undersigned understands these limitations, agrees to use on-line storage or file transfer services at their own risk and further agrees to ensure all parties who may have ownership or implied responsibility for any portion of the information, have approved the use of the service. The undersign also agrees that any costs or other impacts arising out of said use will be borne exclusively by the agency approving the waiver and has the proper authority to make business and financial decisions for the agency in this matter.

The undersigned has read, understood and agreed to abide by policies regarding the protection, account and password maintenance and incident disclosure, if any, as may be required by the employing agency.
