Dear AOGCC:

As a former Pennsylvanian, I have seen and heard first hand the devastation to communities from hydraulic fracturing. I understand the need to develop energy resources, we all use gas, but not to the broad detriment of our pristine last frontier and communities that depend on and revere our natural ecosystems and clean water. I fully support that the the following restrictions and guidelines be in place for this industry to operate in Alaska.

- Require before-and-after water monitoring around each well that is subject to fracturing operations within a half-mile of a freshwater source.
- Require full disclosure where and when fracking fluids will be used, what toxic constituents the fracking fluids may contain, and what amounts of chemicals will be used BEFORE and AFTER fracking operations commence.
- Allow no trade secret exemptions from the requirement to disclose the constituents of fracking fluids prior to or after their use.
- Provide broad public access to fracking-related information, and not rely solely on the problematic FracFocus website to disseminate fracking fluid information to the public.

Yours Sincerely, Elizabeth Ann Webb
